Education Information

Program schedule: the lectures are 30 minutes in length, focusing on theoretical issues with clinical relevance; we strongly encourage participants to engage in interactive discussions throughout the whole presentations time in order to raise their educational level. In the afternoon, demonstrations and illustrative clinical cases will be presented/ discussed in small groups of students. There will be two live LLL courses incorporated in the program (Approach to Oral and Enteral Nutrition in Adults and Approach to Parenteral Nutrition).

Demonstrations: the participants are divided into three groups; each group will receive badges with the colour of the respective group; these groups will rotate for the three different demonstrations:

- Nutritional assessment
- Practice of enteral nutrition
- Practice of parenteral nutrition

Clinical Case Reports: the same groups will work together during the clinical case report presentation and preparation. Each case report will be presented by one of the tutors and discussed with all the students during 60 minutes of time; afterwards, each group will have time to prepare the case report, which will be then presented on the following morning by the one elected as representing each group, during the plenary discussions. The time allocated for morning plenary discussions is 45-60 minutes. Please note this should be the most interactive part of the Course and feel free to express your opinion and questions.

Test: on Wednesday, after the last lecture, you will receive a test, which will contain questions about previous lectures, demonstrations and discussions.

Diploma will be given only to those delegates who have successfully completed their multiple-choice test.

Language: the official Course language is English. No simultaneous translation will be provided.

About Zagreb

The city of Zagreb, capital of Croatia, on the historic and political threshold between East and West, illustrates both the continental and Mediterranean spirit of the nation it spearheads. Zagreb is the cultural, scientific, economic, political and administrative centre of the Republic of Croatia, and is home to the Croatian Parliament, Government and President. Its favourable location between the Pannonian plain, the edge of the Alps and the Dinaric range has allowed it to become a crossing point for mass international communication.

The city is protected from the cold northern winds by the mountain of Medvednica and opens up to the rest of the world thanks to a spacious plain and the Sava river. Zagreb, with a population of nearly one million, contains almost a quarter of the entire population of Croatia. Over the centuries, the city was inhabited by people coming from all over Europe; and, in recent years, by people coming from different parts of Croatia, ensuring a rich cultural life.

Zagreb is a safe city whose doors are always open; a city with a tumultuous history teeming with interesting personalities; a city that warmly invites all those who wish to get to know it, and a city that will surely fulfill your expectations. In this city, you can easily meet remarkable people, make new friends and enjoy special moments. The façades of Zagreb's buildings reflect the ebb and flow of history, while its streets and squares bear witness to the coming together of the many cultures that have shaped the identity of this laid-back capital.
